The warmer the weather the greater will be buzzing of the presidential bee.

There are a good many republican booms at present and many conflict of opinions, but in the end it will turn out that the Chicago convention will not make a mistake in the nomination.

General Grant entered Washington on Thursday mounted on crutches. President Arthur called on him at the hotel, and for two hours stories and cigars had to suffer.

Joseph Cook is getting overbearing and a little cranky, and the Boston Traveller says, "he is placing himself in a position antagonistic to many who have heretofore been his warmest friends. Some of thom will retort by keeping away from his lectures in the future."

Mr. Arthur is the most plainly dressed president we have had for years. With all his accomplishments and social power, he doesn't take to fashion, and insists in wearing a plain sack undercoat which seems much to large for his stately frame. But it is easy to work in and he proposes to wear it.

Persons who hear many glowing accounts of the gold mines in Idaho, before the take the gold fever, should read the following from the Chicago Journal: "Gold-seekers who do not desire to be dates will secure a reasonably fair limade dupes of should be cautioned against giving too much credonce to the sensational reports of fabulous mineral deposits in what is known as the Cour d'Alone region of Montana and Idaho. The published reports alleged to come from that region have all the ear-marks of paid-for-real-estate advertisements.

Thore is a report current that henry Ward Beecher will be a delegate to the republican national convention. The Gazette hopes he will be. The Old Man Eloquent has been a tremendous power in his day, and that power has not yet vanished. It is not known who is his candidate, but that makes no difference. Let the greatest pulpit grater of the century go to Chicago as a delegate. TRANSACTIONS OF THE STATE AGRI-CULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Gazatte has received, through the kindness of Mr. Chuton Babbitt, secretary of the State Agricultural society, copy of the transactions of 1883, and also the proceedings of the State Agricultural convention, held in February, 1883, the Dairymon's association, and many other valuable papers. The volume is the most protentious in size ever issued by the society, and in regard to its contents it is incomparably the most valuable volume yet published. There is an exceedingly interesting and varied assortment of papers touching upon agriculture, stock-raising, dairying, and kindred subjects. The volume is finely printed, attractively bound, and bandsomely illustrated, not by cuts simply to ornament, but by these that serve an unportant purpose in eluculating the text. Mr. Bubbitt has certainly done a splendid piece of work in compiling the annual transactions of the State Agricultural society for 1883. It shows touch of a master hand, and will prove of immense advantage to farmers, stock-growers, dairymen, and students of agriculture.

PACTS REGARDING UNFORTUNATES. The monthly reports made by the State board of supervision, and regularly published in the State Journal, give the publie many interesting facts regarding the population of the various state and charitable and penal institutions. WHAT THEY THINK ABOUT IT. Among the commonts by the state press concerning the high license movement in Janesville is the following from the Evening Wisconsin, a paper which makes Janesville proposes a high license mu-nicipal ticket quite independent of regu-lar party politics. That sounds well, but investigation seems to prove that the prime movers for high license are demo-crats who want offices which they are un-able to get within their arm next. Innex able to get within their own party lines. It is apparently another ease of stealing the livery of the court of heaven to serve the death in The remaining the livery of the court of heaven to serve the livery of the court of heavon to surve the devil in. The republican party is the party of high license, and the real friends of temperance in Janesville who are not republicans can hardly do better than to strengthen themselves and the republican party by going with their high-license sentiment and influence and co-operation a gallant stand for high license:

straight into the republican camp. If the Wisconsin had been on the ground during the time the meetings were held, it could not have struck the tee has decided not to hold a district con- nail a straighter blow than it did in the paragraph reproduced from that paper.

The State Journal, which is non-committal on the high licenso question, after stating what had been done at the public meeting, says:

There are now fifty-five licensed drinking saloons in Janesville and it is estimated ed that if the license were fixed at $500, it would reduce the number by more than one-half and increase the revenue than one and and the city treasury from $1,300, as at present, to $11,970,—a very important item in the city tax. As yet, important item in the city tax. As yet, the movement does not seem to have en-listed any marked sympathy or co-operation upon the part of the active workers of either political party, and its success doubtless depends very much upon an impartial, wise and judicious selection of candidates for the city and ward offices.

The Journal is right in the matter. A wire and judicious selection of candi cense, but otherwise the movement will be barren of good results.

PROHIBITION AND HIGH LICENSE.

With remarkable inconsistency the prohibitionists of New York are stronuonsly opposing the Roosevelt bill in the legislature of that state to secure high license for the keeping of salcons. What thing he has referred to. the prohibitionists demand is absolute: prohibition or nothing, and on this ground they are fighting the 1 or a Roosevelt bill. time the Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Caylor, of Brooklyn, was opposed to any system that would license a saloon, but after soberly and carefully studying the quesiton, he now trankly admits that the best thing for the temperance people within presence, and the proceedings the more possible reach is high license, and he adinteresting by his eloquence. There was a vises the prohibitionists of New York to time when the days of this nation were use their influence for the passage of the

One thing is certain, that a high separated from the greatest chapter of license which will lessen the number of our history. Let the old man go to Chi-saloons and contine the selling of liquors cago next June, and let an ovation be to the better class of dealers, will given him at that time which shall do do much to diminish drunkenness and honor to the man and his inestimable lessen the frequent crimes issuing from the extensive sale of intexicants. The resolute opponents to the high liceuse system in the prohibition party must adopt the views of Dr. Cuyler, or they will make temperance reform utterly impossible in New York and in Wisconsta.

The Gazette is informed that the prohibitionists of Beloit are fighting the scheme to adopt high license! This is one of the worst positions they can possibly take. It is unwise because it weak ens the force of the temperance movement and gives the enemy the advantage.

But what a strange and ridiculous position the prohibitionists place themselves in by opposing such a wholesome and progressive warfare against intemperanco, as that of decreasing the number of saloons! They are marching hand in hand with the sellers of liquor-both having a common purpose, the defeat of high license! It has been said, and experience in New York and Wisconsin shows that the saying is quite true, that the best friends the liquor men have, are the strong-headed prohibitionists. The latter practically unite with the former against the first important step toward demolishing the ovil of intemperance.

A starving man would be considered either insane or a fool who would not take Half a loaf of bread because he couldn't get a sumptuous dinner. If the temperance men cannot get absolute prohibition, let them adopt the most effective method at hand to reduce the evil resulting from too much liquor selling. Lot them support high liceuse until such time the way is opened for what their hearts most desire

Washington City, March 22.—Major 23.—Bairsalae, member of congruss from Mississipi, was before the senate committee on the "Copiah cutrages," and testified that the people of Copiah county were lovers of law and order, and that the charges that he had counseled violence to carry-the election were false. Senator Hoar asked if he included the killing of Matthews in the evidence of the peaceable character of those people, he said he had no oninion to express on that subject. peacetion curracter of those people, no said he had no opinion to express on that subject. Sonator Hoar asked if it should turn out that the outrages charged were true, would Mr. Barksdale still consider those people lawabiding, and he answered that he objected to the question, which had accomplished its object by its statement.

Sonator Hour said: "Did you read some resolutions purporting to have been passed after the election at a public meeting."

"Yes, sir I have them here."
"Yes, sir I have them here."
"Well, now, may I inquire whether you approve or disapprove of the action?" "I will not answer that question further than to say that the resolutions have not been properly understood by the public, and have been misrepresented. If you will permit I will refer to them, so that my understanding of the purport of your question may be clear.

"Well, no, sir. I will not undertake to interpret that.

You had no knowledge of the facts?" "I had nothing to do with getting up the resolutions." "Do you remember any public fact in the history of Yazoo which might help interpret that resolution?"

Washington City, March 22.—In a conversation with a reporter at his room in the Arlington hotel Con. Grant donied that he said in an interview at Forcress Monroe that the contest for the Republican nomination was between Arthur and Blaine, no had he indicated a preference. He also said that the story of a conversation between himself and Blains, in the interests of the latter that Conkling was present and said he preferred Blaine's nomination to Arthur's, was not true as regarded himself and probably untrue as regarded Conkling. probably untrue as regarded He denied that he was to meet Mr. Blains at a dinner party, and said: "I would not go to a dinner where I would be expected to meet Mr. Blaise."

"You have a proference?"
"Cortainly, I have never made any concealment of the fact that I should prefer John Logan to all the other candidates. I think Logan's chances as good as those of any of the candidates." * * * "The Republicans could elect any one they put up. There are two states, however, where there would be some feeling against Arthur. In his own state there is a great coolness toward him among his old friends, while in Ohio the Gardalous and the state of the among his old Irionas, while in Onlo his Gur-field element would not heartily support him."
Ho was asked who would probably be nomi-nated by the Democrats. He said:
"If they have any chance it will be in the nomination of some man whose name will be a guaranty to the business interests of the country. Tilden is so feeble that if he should be nominated public attention would be conbe nonmated upon the second man on the licket. McDonald is a very clover—gentleman, but a free trader. He was told by the chairman that the matter would be reported to the house.

Hon. Alexander Morris Identified the handwriting of the letter from Hon. D. L. Mc. Pherson, minister of the interior, as that of McPherson. Dr. Casscaden was then examined. A. few days after the session opened, Mr. Meek, the opposition party's solicitor, came to him to isk for a private interview. He asserted that hesk asked witness to support the resolution to defeat the government. Witness led Meek on to see what he would say. Meek assured him that if he would consent to resign his seat and help Meek to secure it, it would answer his purpose. In consideration of this witness was to receive from $4,000 to $5,000 and the registership at Regina. Witness then broke up the interview, assuring Meek that he would take no part in it. On the night of Feb. 4, he was called into the corridor of the house and was introduced to Bunting. Bunting broached the subject of a coalition government. The conversation was very brief, witness declining to continue it. Witness said that while he was pledged to secreey before the conversation with Nuck was entered upon, he felt it would be excluded to observe the pledge it would be criminal to observe the pladge at this time.

the Senate Committee. Scheme for an Extended Service. of the Jury. Existing Lines To Bo Given a Chance to Perform the Work

Washington City, March 22.—The sub-ommittee of the senate committee on post-flices and post-reads to I whom was referred the various bills providing for the estab-lishment of a system of postal telegraph, has agreed by a majority vote upon a bill which will be submitted to the fall committee for action at its meeting early next week. The measure is entitled "A Bill to Promote the Rapid Transmission of Correspondence by the Establishment of a Postal Telegrah System," It authorises the post-master general to establish telegraph offices at all postolices on telegraph circuits, and at all other postoffices within ten miles of any circuit, where the salary of the postmaster is not less than $500 per annum, as well as at such other places as, in his judgment, the wants of the public may require. The bill creates the office of fourth assistant postmaster general, and the duties of that officer are to exercise supervision of the entire systom.

The charges for the transmission of telegrains are to be propaid by "telegrain samps" or by "postal telegraph cards," and the maximum rates for telegrams of twenty words or less are to be as follows: When the distance of transmission is 1,000 miles or under, 20 cents; when over 1,000 or under 2000 with the distance of transmission is 1,000 miles or 2,000 miles, 40 conts; for all greater distances, 50 cents. For telegrams directed to be transmitted by night: Under 2,000 miles, 15 cents; for greater distances, 25 cents. All words shall be counted, and for every five additional words or loss, one-lifth additional words or loss, one-lifth additional The bill fixed the following charges for the transmission of special telegrams to newspapers and commercial news associations For each 100 words or less, for each circuit of 1,000 miles, not to exceed 50 cents, if sent at night, and $1 during the day; but when copies of the same telegram are dropped off at one or more effices, the rate for each office at one of more offices, the rate for each office shall not exceed 50 cents at night, and 75 cents during the day; and at the same provaturate for each word in excess. Where special telegrans are delivered at the same office for two or more newspapers, 10 cents additional shall be charged for each newspaper receiving the same. Provision is also made for the issuance of postal telegraph cards of different denominations, which may be deposited in letter hoxes to be dispatched from the central offices, and for the patebod from the central offices, and for the transmission of postal money orders. trunk lines and subsequent extensions are to be under the charge and direction of the pastmaster general, and a part of the post-office establishment of the United States. The last section of the bill provides "That nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit individual or corporation from carrying on the business of computing telegraph lines." on the business of operating telegraph lines. The trunk line feature of the sub-committee's bill embraces the provisions of the bill introduced and supported before the committee by Samtor Edmunds.

Senator Hil, chairman of the committee, says that while he will support the bill agreed to by the sub-committee, he would much pre-fer a measure providing for the immediate establishment of an independent telegraph system.

And the Disappearance of William Been Is Accounted for ... Orrin A. Carpenter in the Hands

Springfield, Ills., March 22.—About three years ago Jesse Dodd died at Laorni, Ills., leaving his widow with a son, who is now about 19 years old. About fifteen months since an individual calling himself william Been appeared in the neighborhood, and soon after married Mrs. Dodd, and the couple sottled down upon her farm, three miles west of Laomi. There lived with the family a servant named Lydia Largo, who was the betrothed of the son John. Soon after the marriage Been began to abuse and mattreat his family. On the 18th of fully Been entered the house, beat his wife, and threatened to kill the entire family. Mrs. Been sent to her son John, who was at work in a field, for assistance. On his way to the house he secured a shot-gan. Entering, he mut his stopfather and fired both bar-rels of the weapon into his body. Been soon after died. The murder was witnessed by John's betrothed, Lydia, but her love for her intended husband silenced her, and the body of the man was taken by the mother, son, and servant and secretly buried. It was noticed among the neigh-bors in the vicinity of the crime that the man had disappeared, but no inquiries were made. Things went on quietly till a short time ago, when the servant began to think it was time her marriage with John was celebrated, and to that effect approached him with the subject. She was greeted with a stout refusal. She puzzled her brain to devise a means of having revenge on her faithless lover, and she at last conceived the idea of betraying her secret, and the highlight of the secret. and thus bringing John to the gallows or penitentiary. She notified the people of the terrible crime, and told the story and the fact that at the time of the occurrence Been disappeared, and it also being known that he was abusive to the widow, led to the credence of the story. She offered to take them to the grave of the murdered man. The spot she knew only too wall, for she had stated she had thrown the first shovelful of earth on the body. A posso of mon repaired to the spot, and, after digging a short disto the spot, and, after digging a short dis-tance under the surface, the decomposed remains of the dead man were found. Coroner Elkin visited the place and on investigation found the facts above stated to be true. In addition to this, however, evidence suffi-cient was found against Miss Large to cause her arrest, and she is now in the Sangamon county juil. The testimony showed that Been had threatened to kill Lydia. Kitty Dodd, a daughly of Mrs. Been, said: "I went to the field and told Brother John that Been had kicked me. Soon after, he came to the house with a gun, and soon after I heard a Chronic Diseases. A Special Study for Years.

Dr. F. B. BREWER Has made Chronic Diseases of the Throat, Lungs, Heart, Stomach. Liver, Kidneys, Nerves and Blood.

Aspecial treatment for years. He is not a boastful, ignorant pretender, but an educated physician, seeking to do good, by devoting his talent and energies to the treatment of a class of malacies that have been with him a long and patiout study. To be able to treat successfully chronic diseases it requires that a physician should be a sound, thorough scholar in the art of science and medicine generally. He should give his entire time to their study, be thorough in his investigations and have a long and variet experience. Dr. brewer claims to work no ronders or to do any more than any well educated physician can do, who devotes his whole eases exclusively, and has had his many years of experience. For years Dr. Brewer has visited the the places he now visits, and has obtained his reportation by being honest in his dealings candid in opinions and reasonable in his charges. Those who are afflicted are invited to cull, investigate and decide for themselves. It will cost nothing to do so. Address all letters

BLESSED LAW.

There is no standing still. Even as I pause The steep path shifts and I slip back upage. Movement was safety; by the journey laws No nelp is given, no safe abiding place, No idling in the pathway hard and slow; I must go forward, or must backward go!

Ah, blessed law! for rest is tempting sweet,
And we would all lie down, it so we might;
And few would struggle on with bleeding
feet;
And few would ever gain the higher height,
Except for the stern law which bids us know
We must go forward, or must backward go.

"JENNY JUNE'S" EXPERIENCE.

Inclined to Kiek Over the Traces of Book Review. (Croffcu's Now York Letter.]

I suppose that Mrs. J. C. Croly, known as "Jenny June," has received much more money for journalistic work than any other woman in America—or, for that matter, than any other woman in the world. She began to work on newspapers when she was quite young, and her brain-product was so well thought of that she speedily had commissions for articles in the highest class of periodicals. Her writing, then as now, was original in a eculiar souse. She was always unconventional; her pen was inclined to kick over the traces of commonplace, where the ordinary back worked well; and the preferred to write on a given subject without reading anything that had been said on the subject. For instance, the second votume of Thomas H. Benton's "Thirty Years' View" was pub-lished in 1856, when Fremont was running like wilddire for the presidency, and the ed-iter of The Democratic Review, who really thought Mrs. Croly inspired, wrote to her for an article on that great work. He must have it by the next morning, he told her, and it was imperative—he could not put The Review to press without it. She told me

"I was at home up town," she said. "I hadn't seen Benton's "Thirty Years in the Senata," and it was not accessible, so I sat down in desperation and words a five-page review of it without seeing it at all, It appeared that month, and the editor complimented me on the newer and heritine of me down in desperation and wrote a five-page review of it without seeing it at all. It uppeared that month, and the editor complimented me on the power and lucidity of my analysis of Old Ballion's work. The fact is, it was my Thirty Years' View. I had given a brisk and running summary of the ovents of which he had been a central figure, with some comments from the proper point of view. I know it was not quite the honest third, but Brousen insisted on it, even after page was to the proper and the proper mint of view. I know it was not quite the honest page in the matter of mational and local politics. These area for the same area for the first page was to the first page was to become general. I do not protein to say as to that. I know a great deal, but I do not know that. "I should think so!" she said. "Once the wife of a well known clerygman here called on me at the office. Not knowing her I, of course, declined to see her without knowing the nature of her business. At last she got the hadre of her business. At ast see got up stairs past the vigilance of Mrs. Demorest's office, which often protects me, and gave me a roll of manuscript, which was a story that she was trying to sell. She would take $10 for it, she said. I looked at it and saw that it was a little story I myself had written some week's before as an advertise meet for a same and a result for a same, and ment for a sawing machine company, and had got $50 for. I did not tell her I had written it, but I showed her a proof of it,

HUMORS,

[St. Louis Republican.]
There have been many reasons given first and last why women should not vote, but I desire to say, in the full light of a ripe experience, that some of them are fallacious. I refer more particularly to the argument that SALT REBUM or Eczema, Peorinais, Scald Head, lufantile or Birth Hamors, and every form of Heining, Scalp, Pinnely, Serofalous, Inherited, Contagious, and Copper Coloral Descases of the blood, Skin and Healp, with loss of hair, are positively cured by the Cutteura Remember. it will degrade women to go to the polls and vote like a little man. My wife voted eight years with my full knowledge and consent, and to-day I cannot so but that she is as docile and as tractable as when she won my trusting heart. Now, those who know me best will admit that I am not a ladies' man, and therefore what I may say here is not said to secure favor and grateful smiles. I am not attractive and am not in politics. > -There was considerable excitement in front of the postoffice between two and three o'clock this afternoon, caused by an ex-laundryman getting mad at being dunned for a small debt. The lanndryman drew a pocket knife and made the air scatter in every direction by his ontions regard for the common rights of wild blows with the knife. A large crowd | the people." congregated, and owing to the absence of the marshal, who was in another part of the city at the time, he had his own way for several minutes, but finally cooled off, and the crowd dispersed.

-Turner, the photographer, on West Milwaukee street, is now propared to furnish his numerous customers with the new stomp photograph. This style of picture is something new; is about the size of our postage stamp, which it somewhat resembles, and may be, used on cards, letters, and in fact upon most anything wished, making a very hundsome ornament on visiting and business cards. The stamp pictures are furnished at a very reasonable price, and will no donot become very [popular. Call at Turner's gallory and see the samples.

-On the south-bound train of the Madison division of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad yesterday, was noticed a young man, an old lady, and two little babies of five weeks old. The history of the party was indeed sad. Four weeks ago the mother died at Wausus, Minn., and the father, in company with the grandmother, was on his way to Delavan, Wis., the home of the old lady, to find a home for the motherless little ones. This incident reminds us that life has a dark as well as a bright side, and none of us are exempt from the sorrowful experiences that so frequently darken the homes and hearts of our follow travelers.

-Speaking about the sacred white elephants, Messrs. Lagrange, Schottle & Co., of the Central carriage works, are patting one of these monsters in condition for shipment to La Crosse, where it Mrs. Perry had been a resiis to stand guard for the boot and shoe store of Richardson Bros. The animal is a fine one, and when in good condition will be considerable lighter, both in color and weight, than the one Barnum is making such a fuse about. Janesville is getting to be a great market for elephants. and we have a large herd on hand, and lived the allotted three score years and can furnish any number on short notice. The prevailing color this season will be well. Her children are Mrs. W. G. Wheelwhite, and this one for La Crosse will be ook, of this city, and Mr. C. W. Trott, of a fine specimen of the white stock of elephants in our market.

-Remember the Hi Henry minstrel company at the opera house on Monday evening. The Edwardsville (III.) Democrat says: "Armory hall was crowded last night by the clite of the city to witness the performance of Hi Henry's minstrels The entertainment lasted nearly three hours and afforded a great deal of pleasare and amasement to a very large audience, everything on the programme boing well executed. Mr. Henry's minstrels are pronounced by our people one of the best troupes on the road. The members of the company are gentlemen, the performance is chaste in every particularand at any intere visit to this city the proprietor can count on a good audiэцсе.

-There was a very large attendance of our citizens at Court Street M. E. church last evening, to hear the temperance lecturer, Mrs. Oliver Willard, of Chicago, who spoke for an hour or more. At this time, her lecture was a rare treat to our people, who are taking a deep interest in the temperance question. The speaker impressed her hourers with her earnestness and hearty sympathy with the work in which she is engaged. Her words of encouragement were elequently spoken, and her brief history of the organization and work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was very interesting and [showed the rapid and permanent growth of that organization, The large audience was well pleased with Mrs. Willard's able and eloquent temperance lecture, and it will result in much good in this community.

-Mr. Ingersoll, of Beloit, whose present position permits him to affix to his name the title of editor and proprietor. postmaster and guardian, takes to task the business manager of the Gazette, because in speaking of him, he is unable to find in the publication eminating from this office every evening, his name in full It occurs to his mammoth brain that all publications that withhold from the pubhe the names of the proprietors, are guilty of "mock modesty, perfidy, cowardice, egotism, numbuggery," and all the other sins in the long category that lead to perdition. The Gazette pleads guilty to many minor sins, but not wishing to be entirely annihilated by the virtuous organ that results from the gifted pen of our eagle-eyed neighbor, we to-day adopt his suggestion, which on the whole is a good one, and publish in another column the names of our stock-holders, officers, near to God." and editorial stuff. Mr. Ingersoll should address his remittances to the business manager. Soveral waste paper baskets raight be found about the institution as a receptacle for his surcasm. Every One in the Northwest Should read T. A. Chapman & Co.'s advertisement on the second page. They quote very low prices for dry goods.

The Gazette is glad to reproduce from the State Journal the following personal item regarding one of Janesville's former residents: "Hon. Sanford A. Hudson, one of the associate justices of the supreme court of Dakota, made a brief visit to Madison this morning. He is taking a short vacation from his too laborious du ties upon the bench. He resides at Fargobut besides holding court with his associates upon the supreme bench, holds court also as district judge for the whole i territory of Dakota north of the fortysixth parallel of latitude, embracing a very extensive portion of country, and requiring him to travel hundreds of miles in the performance of the duties of his office. Mr. Hudson resided in Janesville for more than a quarter of a century, coming to that place in 1845, and for the whole time of his residence there he was a distinguished member of the Rock county bar, enjoying the highest respect of his brethren of the legal profession and possessing the fullest confidence of the whole community in which he moved, for his sterling integrity and his consci-an Unprejudiced Standpoint. Beloit, is just now, wonderfully, exercised over the municipal election, near at hand. Political factions are entirely ignored, and the struggle is between th two wings of the temperance element prohibition, and high license. Friend weeks of prostration was a great but pa-Mrs. Perry was born in Rochester, New Hampshire, June 29, 1806. She was first married to Edward R. Trott, of Boston, Logersoll, of the Free Press, is the champion of the high license movement; and through the columns of his paper proposes to advocate in clear, and unmistakable tones what he considers the first important step in temperance reform. His logic, like that of many others who have given the subject careful thought, is, that half a loaf is better than none and it seems to him unaccountably strange, that the prohibition party should oppose a measure worthy of hearty support by all law-abiding citizens. The Beloit saloon man who pays five hundred dollars for a license, will be more particular about the manner in which he conducts his business, than the man who pays fifty dollars for the same privilege. The little city has suffered much finanendly, during the past few months, and ten, and it can be said that she lived them | will be slow in recovering its standing us a manufacturing centre. Some of the factories are in active operation, and report business in a prosperous condition Noticeable in this class are the plow works of Mesers, Thompson & Sons, and the Eclipse wind mill company.

JOTTINGS BY THE WAY.

Our Neighbors as They Appear from

Evansville, unlike Beloit, is moving along without a ripple, politically or otherwise. She holds out inducements for a city, and only lacks people, to enable her to take a place in the front runk. Her manufactures are gradually increasing in number, and the manner in which this branch of industry is represented speaks well for the good people who are enthusiastic on the subject of home production. The "Enterprise," under the management of Mr. C. A. Libbey, exhibits commendable enterprise in the way of keeping the people well informed on the current topics of the day, and affords an advertising medium for the business men of the town, which they evidently appreciate.

Many people suppose that the capital city would cease to exist if the state should remove its patronage and public Grigge Glycerine Salvo, which is a sure cure for cuts, bruises, scalds, burns, wounds, and all other sores. Will positively cure piles, tetter, and all skin cruptions. Try this wonder healer. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. buildings. A careful survey of the man ufacturing interests, largely developed in the past three years, is convincing evidence that such is not the case, and while the result of the biennial legislation shows a marked falling off in the hotel pusiness and some other branches of trade, the enterprise exhibited in other directions is very commendable. Among the leading producers worthy of special mention, is the Fuller & Johnson Manufacturing Co. Their extensive works located just north of the city, furnish steady employment to one hundred and eighty men, and the fact that one hundred thousand dollars worth of farm machinery has been shipped by this popular establishment since the first of January is proof positive that they are recognized as among the leading manufactories of the north-west. The Lake City Tool Co., whose works are located in another part of the city, and the Madison Manufacturing Co., just scross the way, are both turning out a nice line of goods church will worship together to morrow and a liberal quantity of them, the format the usual hours. Preaching by the er manufactory, the Duplex Wind and feed grinders, and milf. the latter sugar cane mills, and the little high speed engine so much admired at the state fair last fall. Madison only lacks one thing to make t a desirable place to live in and transact business. The banks, four in number and palacial in appearance, are ornaments to the town, but decidedly too metropoltan in practice to furnish first class ac commodations to the business public. Having occasion to visit a couple of these money recontactes during business hour a little surprise was occasioned by find. ing both of them closed; the absence of crape on the door, or a notele of suspension in the window, prompted the question to a merchant near by. "What is the matter with the bank?" "Matter with the bank," was answered, "why nothing new, can tyou read?' On being informed that reading was not in our line. he stepped out to the side-walk and adjusting a pair of well worn spectacles, slowly read from a neat placard, displayed inaide the class door, "Banking hours from 9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 2 to 4 o'clock p, m." By way of appology he said, "the banking business is very contining. The boys are allowed half an hour for dinner and an hour for fishing. The pier at the foot of the street is well patrohized at this hour of the day with an array of them attached to hine ounce poles, looking for suckers through the ice, but don't give it away." An enterprising man with a hundred thousand dollars, looking for a pleasant place to retire; would be pleased with Madison, and the money invested in a bank open from 13:30 to 2 p. m. would be appreciated by the business men of that city in a manner that would insure a better income than government bonds.

"Supper now ready in the dinning car," unnounced by a slick looking gentleman of color, arrayed in a white apron, furnished a good opportunity to note the length and patronage of the St. Paul day express as it speeded north at the rate of thirty miles an hour. This popular route between Chicago and the supply centers of Minnesota is becoming more popular every year, and the elegant trains formehod with all the modern improvements for the comfort and convenience of travelers, suggest the thought that the C. & N. W. railway is not lacking in enterprise and a thoroughly equipped road.

The little town of Baraboo, with its natural facilities and pleasant surroundings, exhibits less elements of thrift and appreciation, then any other town of similar size in the state. With a water power sufficient to turn the wheels of a dozen factories and furnish employment to hundreds of men; she hoards up her wealth and permits two out of three of her factories to rot and go to decay. A little encouragement and a helping hand. would keep them in active operation; but both are withold, and if the division head quarters of the C. & N. W. R. R. were removed, a tomb stone might be erected at one end of the town, bearing the very appropriate motto, "Died, from lack of energy."

Otherwise Known as the Foot and Month Disease, Appears in Rock.

The Rockford Gazette, of Thursday

publishes the following account of the "loot and mouth" disease, which is now proving so fatal to the cattle herds different parts of the west It seems by this article that the disease appeared in this county some thirty-five years ago, but we find no allusion to it in the files of this paper at that time. The Rockford Gazette says "For the past two weeks the Chicago papers have contained lengthy accounts o the ravages made by the dread complaint known as the foot and month disease. At first the accounts were from western parts of the country, but gradually the epidemic worked east, and reports were received of deaths of stock in the southers and central portions of this state. Noth ing was appreliended of the ravages in this immediate section, but during the past three days reports have been rewas taken suck only a short time ago and it was not known what the matter was with it. When taken down it was in good condition and had during the winter received most excellent care. Mr. J. Hosmer, a gentleman well acquainted with cattle diseases, says this disease is the result of insufficient shelter, scanty food, etc., when the mercury is 20 degrees and more below zero.

There is no remedy; and the animals so diseased should be killed and buried at once. The disease is not contagious unless the virus be taken into the system. New Eugland had the same trouble in the early days of its settlement, from insufficient shelter and care. So also did the people of Rock county, Wisconsin thirty-five years ago. The remedy is good shelter, plenty to eat and drink, and a good bed, Those who neglect to provide a shelter, adorn their fences in the spring time with their cattle's hides.

Any stockman who provides no shelter for his stock in this latitude is as foolish as if he were to omit to gather hay, grass etc., and must expect disceter.

It is said the disease was first brought to this country in the clothing of two Scotchmen who came from the old country where there was an intected hord. It is to be hoped that means will be taken to prevent the sproud of this disease in this country.

Reports have been received here today of the sickness and death of considerable stock in the northern part of the county [and in Boone county. Wm. Mc Neillage lost a very valuable cow during last night.. The evening before it was apparently as well as ever, and on going to the barn this morning it was dead." DIED.
